

Preparing to Play at EastWood Country Club

Shuttle Bus

Please refer to the following so you won't miss the free shuttle bus to the club.

Coming to Utsunomiya Station by train?

Board the Yamabiko 123 Shinkansen train that departs from Tokyo Station (headed to Sendai) at 7:12 a.m. The train will take approximately 48 minutes, and you will arrive at Utsunomiya Station by 8:00 a.m. (Please note that train times can change so it would be best to re-confirm train times before you leave).

Once you arrive at Utsunomiya Station, you will have enough time to reach the shuttle bus departure point, as the bus will arrive and leave quickly at 8:20 a.m. It might be a bit hard to find if this is your first visit, so keep the map in hand (or on your phone) and give yourself enough time to find the departure point. Also, please remember that using the shuttle bus requires pre-reservation.

The map below indicates the location from which the club bus will depart (Red circle). You will find the shuttle at the gold square on the map. When you exit the train station (from West Exit), head across the overhead walkway towards the right. You'll notice a building with a large Yodobashi Camera sign. Several different club buses stop on the roadside in front of this large building.

Look for the shuttle bus that shows "Eastwood Country Club". The bus will arrive just before 8:20 a.m. and will depart shortly thereafter.

It's important to note that the shuttle bus may occasionally stop at places where stopping is not allowed, and it might also take a roundabout route at times, possibly going around a rotary. If you can't immediately spot the shuttle bus, there's no need to worry. The bus will wait until all passengers have boarded before departing, ensuring everyone gets on board before moving on. This is the shuttle bus with EW logo
